OPPORTUNITIES

"Our award winning UK University & Apprenticeship Search Virtual Fair is returning on Wednesday 15th June with a wide range of exhibitors from around the UK. Students can get answers to all of their questions and participate in live webinars on the day. This is a fantastic opportunity for students in years 12, 11 and 10 to find out more about the options available to them. The event will also help any undecided year 13s looking to apply in UCAS Extra or Clearing, along with helping students narrow down their firm and insurance options. Students can sign up here now for their free place."

YOUNG PROFESSIONALS

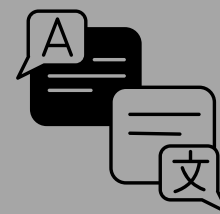

Young professionals are hosting an event in London on Thursday 7th of July. "Exams will be over by the time of the event, and you might be thinking about what more you can do to enhance your CV and start thinking about your next steps into the world of work! Come and join us for our biggest event yet! Meet global employers, network with leading professionals, take part in some fantastic workshops and put something great on your CV! We'll be giving away a ton of prizes including iPads, laptops, hoodies, boxes of chocolates and more as I'm sure many of you know we love to do! We'll also be awarding all students involved a certificate of attendance to add to your CV. Food and drinks will also be provided."

The timing of the event is as follows: 12:00pm arrivals for a prompt 1pm start, 5:00pm finish. The location is Queen Elizabeth II Centre, SW1P 3EE. There is a ticket price of £15 (due to limited capacity and the prevention of students signing up for free and not showing up). Sign up here for your place.

JOB OF THE WEEK

Translators convert the written word from the 'source language' into the 'target language', making sure that the meaning is the same. You can earn up to £40,000 per year and expect to work 37-39 hours per week. There will be 1% more Translator jobs by 2026. You can read more about this here.

LABOUR MARKET INFORMATION FACT

Following on from last week's statistic about AI taking over jobs from humans, a report from PwC found that 73% of people think technology can never replace the human mind.

What jobs can you think of that could NOT be replaced by a robot?

OPPORTUNITIES

Every week on the Not Going to Uni Instagram, a different apprentice takes over the stories and shows you what it's like to work for their employer. Apprentices work for companies like Google, Microsoft, Architecture firms, legal firms and accountancy companies. Give them a follow and you can ask the apprentices questions to help you plan your future!

May half term is fast approaching. You can use this time to complete a virtual work experience placement, this helps you to learn about an industry, job role and employer. It also looks great on university, apprenticeship and job applications. Find a programme and sign up here.

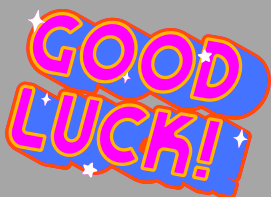

Join Dr Marianna Koli as she poses the question "Why are some countries poor?" in a series of episodes that culminate in a fascinating and topical Subject Spotlight focussed on Economics. She will be looking at global inequality, who is responsible for that, the uneven distribution of Covid-19 vaccines during the recent pandemic, and the impact of the pandemic on the global economy. Watch here.

If you've heard the term 'Red Brick' or 'Russell Group' uni and are wondering what this means, check out this watch and read page from Springpod to find out more. Have a look at their dashboard for help on many more subjects too.

Did you know 85% of primary school children today will be working in new job types that don't yet exist? That's pretty crazy, huh? We challenge you to try and think of 5 jobs that exist now, that you don't think will exist in 5 years time. Then think of 5 jobs that don't exist yet but you think will exist in 5 years time!

To all students taking exams over the next few weeks, a huge "Good Luck" from your careers team. Do your best and believe in yourself. You can do it!
